

Wa Pasta Menu

The "Wa-pasta" is a combination of carefully selected dashi, miso, soy sauce, soy milk, and other uniquely Japanese flavors, plus a little extra "effort".

For a break from the meal, homemade tofu and obanzai made with Yakumo soymilk and a gentle sweet that blends Japanese and Western flavors will grace your table.

A sip of "Konana Tea," an original blend of tea that goes well with both meals and sweet dishes, will relax your mind. The aroma of dashi (Japanese soup stock) will intoxicate you and fill your stomach and your heart.

Konana's "Dashi" Commitment and the Secret of Deliciousness

The dashi used in all of Konana's pastas is the essence of Konana, and the "deliciousness" you experience when eating our dishes comes from the taste and aroma of this dashi. When your Konana pasta is served, first, please enjoy the "smell" of the dashi.

Our dashi is carefully balanced, featuring rich flavors from bonito flakes sourced from Makurazaki in Kagoshima Prefecture, and a mellow taste from three types of kelp sourced from Hokkaido. Additionally, we add a slight thickness to ensure it clings well to the pasta, and enhance the dashi's flavor with extra-special

These various commitments have culminated in the creation of "Konana Dashi". That's why it pairs so perfectly with our pasta!

Authentic Chewy Texture "Fresh Pasta"

Konana's White and Black Bolognese

Konana's White and Black Bolognese features luxurious use of beef from Awaji Island, raised in its rich natural environment. The well-balanced blend of fat and lean minced beef is crafted into a Bolognese sauce that pairs perfectly with fresh pasta. The White Bolognese, with its white sesame and soy milk base, has a kick of ginger. The Black Bolognese, rich and savory, is made with Hatcho Miso. Are you a fan of the white or the black?
